FOOD ZURICH 2024: Sustainable enjoyment over 11 days

Explore the Slow Food Market, listen to exciting talks and taste green star dishes: FOOD ZURICH returns this year for the ninth time and is all about the "Culinary Future". Behind the motto is the sustainable nutrition of tomorrow, which combines enjoyment with conscious consumption and a sense of responsibility. Switzerland's largest food festival, with over 100 events, will once again take place in summer from 6 to 16 June 2024. The festival is returning to its roots due to the postponement to autumn caused by the pandemic.

The future is complex: the focus topics

FOOD ZURICH offers new culinary thinkers, producers, pioneers, restaurateurs and start-ups the opportunity to present their pioneering ideas. The programme was curated according to this year's focus themes: Simple, Alpine Cuisine, Circulation, Newcomers, Outside the Box, Gmües (Vegetable), Essthetics, Fermented, Beans and Chuchitisch (Kitchentable). Young and old meet at the Chuchitisch, where recipes are exchanged and stories told – a place to meet, share and enjoy. Further information on the focus topics can be found here.

The festival programme: opening party, Slow Food Market & Foodsave Day

Festival visitors can look forward to a varied and creative programme. On Thursday, 6 June, the grand opening party will take place for the last time at the Jelmoli Foodmarket in the heart of Zurich. Visitors can also look forward to the open-air Slow Food Market around the festival centre in Europaallee on 8 June. Around 70 stands will be open for tasting, discussing and buying. At the Foodsave Day on 14 June, FOOD ZURICH invites visitors to exchange ideas on the topic of food rescue. The festival programme also includes a variety of workshops, talks, food tours and gourmet events. Further information on the programme will follow shortly.

Culinary metropolis Zurich

With 2,900 restaurants, the city of Zurich has one of the highest densities in the world and combines everything a gourmet's heart desires within walking distance. With the ETH, the ZHAW and its international openness, the city on the Limmat also offers all new thinkers and start-ups fertile ground for innovation and research
